History: early 19th century

Petworth Cottage Museum is a timber framed workers cottage originally built c.1670, one of the numerous cottages on the Leconfield Estate in West Sussex. The cottage was rented by a Mrs Mary Cummings, in 1901, a skilled needleworker employed at Petworth Manor House. The interior has been recreated as Mrs Cummings would have remembered circa 1901, guided by photography from the period. The design is typical of the early 19th century period and something similar may have been chosen by Mrs Cummings.
